Pastor Ken & Celest on Great Controversy Tour

May 25, 2018 | NL Adventist Communications

The Seventh-day Adventist Church in Newfoundland and Labrador's president, Pastor Ken Corkum and wife, Celest, left last week for a 14 day Great Controversy Tour.

The tour traces the historical locations associated with the narrative of the book Great Controversy, by Ellen G. White.

The tour is led by Dr. Gerard Damsteegt, from Andrews University and will take the group to Rome, Siena, Ravenna, Canossa, Parma, Torre Pellice, Chamonix, Geneva, Morges, Kepler, Zurich, Konstanz, Speyer, Worms, Metz, Rheims, and Paris.

5. Tour guide Gerard Damsteegt after entering the gates of Nero's property & palace reads the paragraphs from Acts of the Apostles, describing the experience of Paul before Nero and the contrast between the two. Ultimately Paul was condemned and killed while Nero escaped the city from a mob and had his servant kill him.

6. The gates into Nero's property and palace.

7. The Gladiator School with entrance that would go underground to the Colosseum in the background.

We are enjoying our group from around North America, 52 in the group. We had worship this morning in our motel about a 15 minute walk to the Colosseum. It is awesome to be standing to see actual spots where history took place...

Farewell to Pastor Williams Family

May 31, 2018 | NL Adventist Communications

Earlier this week, Pastor Jason and Elizabeth Williams, with their two youngest children, began their official move to Wetaskiwin, Alberta, where Pastor Jason will begin his next pastoral assignment, and approximately 45 minutes from Burman University, where their oldest, Dierick, is attending school.

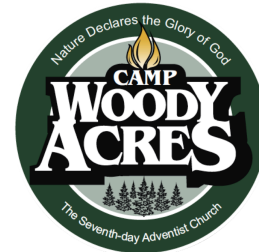

The Williams plan to take their time, driving across the country. The trip, in total, will take them 12 days with frequent stops and time to enjoy the scenery.

We will miss having and seeing the family, and their ministry, here in Newfoundland, but we know that in the Lord's family and vineyard, we will meet again.
